

Vol III

Alma Savage was reared and educated at Payson and as a young man he became associated with overland freighting between York and the mining camps in Eastern Nevada and Southern Utah. He was thus engaged about two years, and in 1877 he left Payson and removed to the Box Creek district of Piute County, where he has continued a representative of ranch industry during the long intervening years and has been a progressive cattle grower. When he needed more land he purchased property farther to the south, and here he has since resided on his present homestead ranch north of Antimony, which is in Garfield County. His home is near the irrigation reservoir, he has a herd of 300 cattle and, notwithstanding the fact that he has passed the psalmist's span of three score years and ten, he is still alert and vigorous and is to be found in the saddle day after day in the supervision of his ranch. As an equestrian he is a hard and fast rider, and this involves his maintaining of a good array of saddle horses.

Mr. Savage has served as county commissioner and school trustee in Piute County, was the first constable at Greenwich, and as a zealous member of the Latter Day Saints he served as bishop of the Marion Ward. He has been substantially successful in his business operations and takes just pride in this, as does he also in his having reared a fine family of children.

In 1883 Mr. Savage married Mary Elversa Vest, daughter of W. M. and H. J. (Henderson) Vest, of Payson. The children of this union are: Mrs. Elversa Jane Erickson, Mrs. Sarah Gertrude Nielson, Mrs. Armina Albertha Jolly, Miss Jessie Myrtle, Mrs. Clara Bell Young, Miss Elsie, Alma, Jr., Mrs. Mary K. Riddle and Mrs. Ellaree Dolton. The only son, Alma, Jr., is closely associated with his father in modern ranch enterprise, and the family has long been one of prominence in the social life of this section of the state. The devoted wife of Mr. Savage was about sixty-six years of age at the time of her death in 1926.

THOMAS JONES, of Heber City, represents a family that for three generations have given their sturdy energy and wholesome citizenship to the agricultural communities of this state. Mr. Jones, himself, is a leader in the ranching and live stock industry of Wasatch County.

He was born at Heber City, September 26, 1886, son of Richard and Agnes (Campbell) Jones. His father was born at Mount Pleasant, Utah, October 15, 1856, and three years after his birth his parents were one of the first seventeen families to settle in the Provo Valley. He grew up there, and at an early age came into the Heber Valley, where he acquired extensive lands and was widely known as a stock man and rancher. For many years he served on the school board, was county commissioner from 1888 to 1892 and was in the State Land Office under Mr. Bamberger. He died April 25, 1926.

Thomas Jones attended public school at Heber and completed a commercial course in the Brigham Young University. As a boy he worked with his father on the ranch, and with independent years began ranching for himself. He is a large land owner and a cattle and sheep man, most of his ranching property being in the Uinta district. He is a member of the advisory board of the Uinta Grazers Association, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce at Heber City, and an active member of the Latter Day Saints Church.

Mr. Jones married, November 25, 1910, Miss Christie Murdock, of Heber City, daughter of James S. and Dora Murdock. They have four children, Faun, Fern, J. Richard and Kay.
